462 | MAWLID AL-NABI ﷺ: CELEBRATION AND PERMISSIBILITY

community are presented to me every Friday. Whoever amongst you recites the most invocations upon me will be the closest to me in rank.<sup>1</sup>

It is evident from these hadiths that irrespective of distance, whether it be far or near, the most exalted Prophet ﷺ listens to the invocations of peace and blessings recited by the loyal members of his community. The angels, only to maintain the etiquettes of his court, relay the invocations. Otherwise, not only does the servant's voice reach him, but the most esteemed Prophet ﷺ honours him by replying to his salutations. Despite such clear and explicit rulings and its many virtues, if someone still raises objections criticising the gatherings of Mawlid al-Nabi ﷺ, it is nothing but his misfortune. These antagonists should learn the truth through the evidence of the Qur'an and Sunna.

In this section, we have only related a small selection of hadiths on the excellent virtues and significance of invoking peace and blessings; otherwise, there is a whole treasure of hadiths available on this topic. The scholars have composed voluminous books on the subject. For further information, one should consult my book, al-Badr al-tamām fi al-ṣalāt 'alā Ṣāhib al-dunuw wa al-maqām.
